

Testing for HIV, Hepatitis B and Hepatitis C

All patients who have a blood test performed as part of their assessment in the Emergency Department will now have a test for Hepatitis B, C and HIV.

All results are confidential and any patient requiring further testing or follow-up will be contacted directly by an appropriate specialist.

If you do not wish to be tested, please let the member of staff performing your blood test know.

Early diagnosis is important, treatment may be life saving and is free on the NHS.
